CAR TRANSPLANTS AWARDED ISO 27001 CERTIFICATION FOR INFORMATION SECURITY MANAGEMENT

Car Transplants Limited, an industry leader in complete salvage management, has been awarded the International Standard Organisation ISO 27001 Certification. Achieving the ISO 27001 standard certifies that Car Transplants has robust information security controls in place to protect client data. The certification is awarded only to those companies that can meet the standard as judged by an independent, accredited team of auditors.

This accreditation is the second ISO accolade Car Transplants have secured after gaining and upholding the Environment Management System, ISO 14001, in June 2011. This shows Car Transplants are dedicated to putting in place and maintaining the correct management systems to ensure the protection of both the environment and information security.

John Schofield – Managing Director said “We are constantly striving to meet the highest standards within the industry as we are the UKs premium salvage provider. This has been achieved through the continuous professional development of staff and management systems throughout the business”.
